Are you coming with us to enjoy the ride?

Yes, I work days from 9 to 9, but...

Yes, there is pressure, but...

Yes, there are nitty-gritty assignments, but...

But,

when I am in a court room, fighting for my client,

when my team and I are in London negotiating that all important deal, when my team is at the client organizing the Due Diligence, when I finally understand the essential trick of the invention, when I find that statement I need in that ridiculously large file, when the strategy works...

...I reap the rewards of those 9 to 9, pressurized doing the “homework” days.

And, when the dust has settled, the deal is done, the battle is over, I work a couple of days from 10 to 4. I wind down doing some business development (lunch with the client?), I share my stories and knowledge with my co-workers and recharge for the next rollercoaster thrill.

Are you joining the ride as a Patent Attorney at Simmons & Simmons in the Intellectual Property practice group in Amsterdam?”
